

Title	Table of Contents (DIS 2)
Author(s)
Citation	DISASTER, INFRASTRUCTURE AND SOCIETY: Learning from the 2011 Earthquake in Japan = 災害・基盤・社会 東日本大震災から考える(2): 3-3
Issue Date	2012-06
Type	Others
Text Version	publisher
URL	http://hdl.handle.net/10086/23131
Right	Copyright (c) 2012 Study Group on Infrastructure and Society All rights reserved.

contents

004 Editor's Note

Critical Time of Professional Knowledge

Tadahito YAMAMOTO

Special Issue

An Interdisciplinary Dialogue on Post-quake Reconstruction

editor Naofumi SUZUKI

006 Introduction:

Towards an Interdisciplinary Collaboration for Post-Earthquake Reconstruction

Naofumi SUZUKI

014 Considering the Extent of Damage in Ishinomaki from a Civil Engineering Perspective

Tsuneaki FUKUI

022 Constructing Food Stalls in a Tsunami-Hit Town:

The Case of a Reconstruction Approach in Otsuchi Town, Iwate Prefecture

Shin OZAKI

A Reply from Sociologists

030 Common Traits in Earthquake-related Disasters and Difficulties in Reconstruction Activities

Akihiko SATO

031 Overcoming Modern Urban Civilization:

Infrastructure and Everyday Life after the Great East Japan Earthquake

Atsuo TERADA

033 Beyond the Barriers between Civil Engineering and Sociology

Sayaka MORI

Article

035 What Should the Public Know?:

Japanese Media Coverage on the Antinuclear Movement in Tokyo between March 11 and November 30, 2011

Keiichi SATOH

Essay

040 Attending the Global Conference for a Nuclear Free World in Yokohama

Alexander BROWN

Research

046 Tsunami Disaster and Assistance: Interviews with Key Persons in Ofunato and Tono Cities

Tadahito YAMAMOTO