

Title	Table of Contents (DIS 4)
Author(s)
Citation	DISASTER, INFRASTRUCTURE AND SOCIETY: Learning from the 2011 Earthquake in Japan = 災害・基盤・社会 東日本大震災から考える(4): 3-3
Issue Date	2013-03
Type	Others
Text Version	publisher
URL	http://hdl.handle.net/10086/25621
Right	Copyright (c) 2012 Study Group on Infrastructure and Society All rights reserved.

contents

004 Editor's Note

Disaster Experiences in Tokyo: Reconsidering Center–Periphery Relationship
Tadahito YAMAMOTO

Special Issue

Disrupted Tokyo
Editor Junko UENO

006 Introduction

Urban Experience of Disaster: Situating the Great East Japan Disaster in Regional Contexts
Junko UENO

011 Breakdown of Infrastructures and Urban Disconnection:

Tokyo in Post-quake Chaos
Junko UENO

022 The Great East Japan Earthquake and Responses from Civil Engineering, Urban Planning, and Architecture Industry:

Reconsidering Tokyo as a Center of Expertise
Takefumi UEDA

030 Tokyo and the Social Aftershocks of March 11:

Our Experiences of the Earthquake and Its Aftermath
Naofumi SUZUKI

Article

037 The Actuality of Theoretical Detour:

Reading The Urban Question on a Critical Point
Yutaka IWADATE

Research

Key Organizations of the Post-Fukushima Accident Civil Society

041 1 Preface: To Understand the Different Side of Problems Faced by Each Civil Organization

Keiichi SATOH

042 2 Revival of the Deep-rooted Anti-Nuclear Power Social Movement in Kansai Region: Green Action

Reeya KOMODA

045 3 Connecting Evacuees through Lunchbox Delivery Service:

The Female Farmers' Power Project "Ka-Chan no Chikara Project"
Keiichi SATOH